Farmingville, NY - Through the office of Councilwoman Jane Bonner and efforts of the Sound Beach Civic Association, the dilapidated bus shelter in front of the Sound Beach Post office on New York Avenue has been replaced with a brand new shelter for area residents. The new shelter constructed through the Town of Brookhaven's Housing & Human Services Department, is to be maintained by Signal Outdoor Advertising LLC, contractors for bus shelter maintenance for the Town.

"In this economy, as more of our residents have the need to use public transportation, having such a nice facility/amenity as this is a real plus for the community," said Councilwoman Bonner, "Together with the park improvements and the traffic calming project these community enhancements will have a great impact on Sound Beach, I'm glad I could help."
